

ASIAN ART COUNCIL

The Asian Art Council (AAC) is a support organization for the Department of Asian and Ancient Art of the Art Institute of Chicago, which houses one of the major American collections of Asian art from Japan, China, Korea, South and Southeast Asia, the Himalayas, and the Islamic world.

The AAC acts as a forum for education and discussion about Asian art—ancient to contemporary—through lectures, demonstrations, gallery walks, and visits to private collections. The AAC biannual newsletter provides information about council programs and Asian-themed events in the U.S. and Europe. Through dues and fundraising functions, the AAC provides financial support for the acquisition of Asian works of art. Members are able to give voice to the selection of these objects at the annual meeting.
