THE ART INSTITUTE
CHICAGO
An Exhibition of Drawings

John T. McCutcheon
Frank Holme
William Schmedtgen
Explanatory

The drawings shown at this exhibition, with few exceptions, were made for newspaper reproduction. In selecting the drawings from the large number made during the past twelve months, the purpose has been to cover the usual range of present-day newspaper illustration. The exhibition, therefore, includes portrait work (both from life and from photographs), news sketches and cartoons. The influence of the presidential campaign is evident in the number of drawings made at the National Conventions of the political parties, or dealing with notable events of the succeeding campaign. Many of these drawings, in addition to their merit as mere drawings, have the interest that attaches to work done at the scene of the illustration. The newspaper sketches were originally printed in the Chicago Record, the Chicago Chronicle and the Chicago Evening Post.

The exhibition also includes a considerable number of miscellaneous drawings, not expressly of a newspaper character, but rather more suitable for such printing as can be afforded by magazine or book publications. It may be added, however, that all the black-and-white work is of a character that will enable it to be practicably reproduced by the zinc-etching process.
THE ENGRAVINGS IN THIS CATALOGUE ARE THE WORK OF J. MANZ & CO. ENGRAVERS AND ELECTROTYPERS 183-5-7 MONROE ST. CHICAGO.................

Frank J. Reed, G.P.A., Monon Route, Chi.

Dear Sir: The Associated Artists are quite delighted at the treatment they have rec'd from the Monon Route. They found the Monon trains artistic and up-to-date, the country picturesque, and the cities of Chicago, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, LaFayette, Louisville full of motif and inspiration. On our pilgrimages from the south to the north, or north to south we shall always take the Monon Route. Yours Faithfully

The new scale Knabe upright piano is the finest instrument we have ever seen. After an experience of nearly forty years with pianos of various makes (in fact, there is not a standard piano upon the market today with which we are not familiar), we unhesitatingly pronounce the 1897 Knabe upright not only better, but a distinct advance upon all other uprights ever manufactured. We especially request teachers, musicians and connoisseurs to test these new Knabes. The knowledge of the perfection to which piano building has finally been carried cannot fail to be valuable to them. To intending purchasers we are glad to announce that there will be no advance in the price of Knabes, although these new instruments are so far superior to all existing standards that not a single person who has thus far inspected them has failed to acknowledge their supremacy in the warmest terms. LYON & HEALY, Wabash Avenue and Adams Street, Chicago.
Hooley’s

“Hooley’s has become to Chicago like Daly’s and the Lyceum theatres of New York rolled into one;—more than that, like six of the best Eastern comedy houses in their combined essence.”
—Chicago Tribune.

"The book is truthful. It is clever, moreover, with the diabolical cleverness that one might reveal in a sketch of his dearest enemy. . . . The plot would answer for a 400-page novel. . . . So ingenious, so daring and so finished a work can hardly be attributed to a novice."—The
