ISRAËLS, JOSEF—Officer of the Legion of Honor; of the Order of Leopold of Belgium. Medals at Exposition Universelle, Paris, 1887, 1878, Grand Prix, 1889, 1900.

JOSEF ISRAËLS was born in Groningen, Holland, January 27, 1824. His early ambition was to become a rabbi and for a time he directed his studies to that end. For a short time, on leaving school, he was in his father's banking business. In 1844 he entered the studio of Jan Kruseman in Amsterdam, and began his life work as a painter. The following year he went to Paris and entered the studio of Picot. Later he presented himself for entrance into the École des Beaux Arts, and studied with Paul Delaroche just after Millet had left Delaroche's studio. Israëls has been called the Dutch Millet, and it was by accidental circumstances that the future of both was decided. Israëls was obliged to go to a small fishing village for his health, and it was during his residence there that his career was revealed to him. As in the case of Millet peasant life appealed to him deeply, and in this quiet hamlet he became the painter of peaceful, poetic, domestic incidents, and dim, familiar cottage interiors. "In him is embodied the strength of modern Holland." Israël has exhibited for many years in Paris, Brussels, Rotterdam, London, Chicago, etc. Many of his pictures are owned in America. Among his works are: "The Children of the Sea," "Returning from Work," "Alone in the World," "Weary," "Waiting for the Herring Boats," "A Mother's Care," "Frugal Meal," "Toilers of the Sea," etc.

Israël's eightieth birthday, which will occur upon January 27, 1904, will be widely celebrated in Holland, and the present exhibition is suggested by this occasion.
The Trustees of the Art Institute take this opportunity to express their obligations to the persons named below, for the generosity which enables them to gather this interesting group of Dutch Artists of the present generation:
