The Art Institute of Chicago was incorporated May 24, 1879, for the "founding and maintenance of schools of art and design, the formation and exhibition of collections of objects of art, and the cultivation and extension of the arts of design by any appropriate means." The Museum building upon the Lake Front, first occupied in 1893, is open to the public every week day from 9 to 5, Sundays from 1 to 5. Admission is free to members and their families at all times, and free to all upon Wednesdays, Saturdays, and Sundays.

The Art School, in the same building, includes departments of Drawing, Painting, Sculpture, Illustration, Decorative Designing, Normal instruction, and Architecture.

All friends of the Art Institute are invited to become members. Annual Members pay a fee of ten dollars a year. Life Members pay one hundred dollars and are thenceforth exempt from dues. Governing Members pay one hundred dollars upon election and twenty-five dollars a year thereafter. Upon the payment of four hundred dollars Governing Members become Governing Life Members and are thenceforth exempt from dues. All receipts from life memberships are invested and the income only expended.

All members are entitled, with their families and visiting friends, to admission to all exhibitions, receptions, public lectures, and entertainments given by the Art Institute, and to the use of the Ryerson reference library upon art.
Twenty-eighth Annual Report of the Trustees.

CHICAGO, June 4, 1907.

To the Governing Members of the Art Institute of Chicago:

Feeling the pressure for more room the Trustees have again added to the building in accordance with the general plans.

The most important building operation of the year was the construction of the second floor corridor, upon the fourth or eastern side of the building, which was begun in the autumn of 1906 and completed in April, 1907, at a cost of about $11,000. This is shown in the second-floor plan at the beginning of this report under room numbers 46, 47 and 48. This corridor is a part of the original plan of the building, and is 209 feet long, 12 feet wide and 14 feet high, lighted by large west windows 7 feet from the floor. It is finished in green and black, and forms a stately hall. (See illustration.) The only temporary part is in the centre, where a section of 50 ft. in length is widened to 25 ft. by tile walls (Room 47 of the plan). This corridor answers two very important purposes. It completes the circulation, so that visitors are no longer compelled to turn back when they reach room 25 or Room 45; and it furnishes a large amount of space suitable for the exhibition of decorative objects. It is at present occupied by porcelains, ivories and metal objects. The Trustees are anxious to complete the top-lighted galleries of the east wing, to which the corridor is properly an adjunct, but the state of our finances does not yet permit it. It will be necessary to finish the East face of the building in stone, since it will be conspicuously visible from the new lake park above the Illinois Central tracks. The cost of completing this part of the building is estimated at $80,000, and this, with the central staircase and dome, estimated at $200,000, will complete the building.

Another important addition to the building is the new Print Room, shown in the plan as Room 50 (see illustration), which was constructed during February, March and April, 1907, at a cost of about $2,500. This is temporary in the sense that when the central part of the building is completed, this room will become an arcade or cloister looking through arches into the grand stair-case. The present improvement consists in furnishing it with iron-framed skylights, cement floor and finished walls covered with Japanese grass-cloth. The result is a very beautiful and well-lighted gallery in the form of a corridor, divided by pilasters into three parts, the whole 85 ft. long, 10 ft. wide and 10 ft. high. It will hang easily 250 framed etchings or engravings. The first exhibition will open in a few days and will consist of a comprehensive collection of the etchings of Whistler loaned by Mr. Bryan Lathrop and Mr. Clarence Buckingham, together with a few from the Stickney Collection of the Art Institute. It is hoped that the establishment of the Print Room will give a new impulse to this department, to which too little attention has hitherto been given. It will permit the exhibition from time to time of fine engravings selected from the Stickney Collection of Engravings, which formed the private collection of the late Edward S. Stickney, and was presented to the Art Institute in 1887 by Mrs. Stickney. The collection has always been accessible in the library, but has not been much exhibited.

These additions and all changes in the building are of thoroughly fire-proof construction. The floors are of cement, covered with linoleum. The walls, however, except in galleries occupied by permanent collections, are lined with wood from the picture line to a height of from 9 to 14 feet, covered with asbestos paint. Without a continuous wooden lining it is impossible to rehang galleries speedily and freely.

During the summer of 1906 cement floors were laid in rooms 112 and 113 of the basement, completing that work. In the space in the third floor used for class-rooms of the school of architecture the wooden floors and walls were replaced with cement and plaster, and two new class-rooms for the same department were constructed in the fourth floor. The janitor's rooms in the basement also were extended and improved.

In the autumn of 1902 the Munger Gallery (Room 40) was fitted with mosaic floor and marble wainscoting, but the appropriation was insufficient for the decoration of the wall and to furnish metallic sky-light frames. The Mun-ger Estate has now generously furnished the means to complete the room, and the work will be done immediately.

The invested funds of the Art Institute June 1, 1906, amounted to $245,000, $50,000 of which (the Kent bequest) was held by the Northern Trust Co. During the last fiscal year, June 1, 1906, to June 1, 1907, they have been increased by the following receipts:

Bequest of Berthold Loewenthal - - $2,000
25 Life Memberships - - - - $2,500
3 Governing Life Memberships - - - 1,200

So that the present amount of invested funds is $250,700

The indebtedness of the Art Institute on June 1, 1906, was - - - - $139,700
This has been reduced from receipts from the White Estate - - - - 6,000

$133,700

The indebtedness has been increased during the year by the following amounts borrowed to pay for:

Lockers - - - $4,000.00
General expenses - - - 1,000.00
Purchase of El Greco - - 38,277.10

Making the total liabilities $176,977.10

W. Moses Willner died in Chicago September 16, 1906. He bequeathed to the Art Institute "the sum of $50,000, to be used solely as an endowment," but without other limitation. Mr. Willner was a Bohemian by birth, but a citizen of Chicago from 1858, and for nine years an annual member of the Art Institute.

Mrs. Mary E. Swan, who died in Chicago October 2, 1906, (widow of James H. Swan), directed by her will that certain of her paintings, statues, vases and books should be given to the Art Institute. Mr. and Mrs. Swan had been annual members of the Art Institute for nineteen years.

Victor Weissker, of Chicago, died in Dresden, March 26, 1907. In his will, after giving his wife a life estate in his property and also the right to dispose of the principal of his estate if she sees fit, he made the following provision in case she does not so dispose of it, that, upon her remarriage or death, after the payment of certain legacies:

"I give, devise and bequeath to the Art Institute of Chicago the sum of Twenty-two Thousand Dollars to be held by the same in trust for the following purposes: The Art Institute shall invest this amount as a perpetual fund, and shall give the income of the same to the most talented and deserving student graduating from the Art Institute, for the purpose of travelling and studying abroad. It is understood that this travelling scholarship shall bear the name of the donor, and shall be for the duration of two years for each incumbent. Should, after fifty years, the Art Institute consider it best to discontinue this scholarship, then it shall use the principal sum invested for purchasing works of art."

The Art Institute is also made residuary legatee, the residue of the estate of Mr. Weissker to be held in trust "to be invested by said Art Institute as a perpetual fund. The income arising from said fund shall accumulate and shall be used by said Art Institute from time to time for the purchase of works of art for the galleries of said Institute, but shall not be so used in connection with money from other sources.'"

The contingencies are such that it is very uncertain whether the Art Institute will derive anything from this bequest.

The bequest of Berthold Loewenthal, of $2,000, mentioned in last year's report, has been paid to the Art Institute. It is for "a prize fund or whatever other art or educational purpose the Trustees deem prudent."

The bequest of Henry J. Willing of $5,000 (see Report of 1904) will be payable to the Art Institute in September, 1908.

On January 3, 1907, the trustees of the Catherine M. White Estate made their final accounting in the Probate Court and were discharged. The estate was closed and the remaining property turned over to the Art Institute.

The amount the Art Institute has received from the estate is as follows:

Cash $23,319.87
Three scholarships of $2,500 each 7,500.00
Real estate, at valuation of Real Estate Board 134,480.00

Total $165,299.87

The B. F. Ferguson Trust Fund has begun to yield income. This fund is held in trust by the Northern Trust Company and the income is to be expended by the Trustees of the Art Institute for public monuments in Chicago.
The sum of $13,026.00 in interest has been received and has been temporarily invested in interest-bearing securities. Deeming it suitable that the first monument should be a memorial of Mr. Ferguson, the donor, the Trustees upon October 25, 1906, adopted a recommendation of the Art Committee “that the first work to be undertaken under the Ferguson Bequest be a monument or memorial to Benjamin Franklin Ferguson, the founder of the fund, and that this monument be in the form of a fountain, to be situated within the territory of the South Parks of Chicago.” It would appear suitable that such a monument should be in the centre of the city, that is, in the down-town territory of the South Park. The unsettled condition of the plans for the development of the Lake Front has led to the postponement of definite projects.

The membership record stands as follows:

A total of 240 new annual members has been received during the year, but 340 have dropped out or been transferred to other forms of membership.

The total receipts from members, including $1,837.17 interest from life membership funds, have been $28,218.17, against $30,199.29 of last year—a loss of $1,981.12.
The governing membership is limited to 250, in whom are vested the property and government of the institution. During the past year seven governing members have died, as follows:

Roland C. Nickerson    Luther McConnell
Clarence K. Wooster     Caryl Young
Otto Young             James H. Eckels
Orin W. Potter

The only person elected to governing membership is Mrs. C. C. Kohlsaat.

The new charter of the city of Chicago, which has been approved by the Legislature of the State and will be submitted to the people of Chicago next September, may affect the relation of the Art Institute to the South Park Commissioners. For the protection of the Art Institute and other museums in public parks the following provision has been made a part of the new charter:

Article 18, Section 18. The board of park commissioners may, with the consent of the city council, purchase, erect and maintain within any public park any museum, art institute or library, or permit any museum, art institute or library established for public use by private endowment to be erected and maintained within any public park.

An admission fee, not to exceed twenty-five cents for each visitor over ten years of age may be charged or be permitted to be charged for visiting any such museum or art institute, provided that all such museums and institutes shall be open to the public without charge for three days each week, and to the children in actual attendance upon any of the public schools in this city on every day.

Any arrangement or agreements existing at the time this charter shall take effect with any museum, art institute or library that shall be now located or authorized to be located in any park shall not be impaired or affected by the provisions of this charter.

Where any power has heretofore been granted by statute to any board of park commissioners to levy taxes for the support of any museum or museums of art, sciences or natural history, located and maintained or authorized to be located and maintained in any public park, the city council may on request of the board of park commissioners, appropriate and include in the levy of taxes for park purposes, a tax on each dollar of taxable property, not to exceed that named in the statute conferring such power upon said board of park commissioners, for the same purpose or purposes, subject to the provisions of this charter upon the subject of taxation and revenue.

If any owner of land abutting upon any park, or adjacent thereto, have any easement or property right in such park appurtenant to his land which would be interfered with by placing any museum, art institute or library within the park, or any right to have such park remain open and free from buildings, such easement or right may be condemned in accordance with the provisions of the statutes regulating the exercise of the power of eminent domain.

The Norman W. Harris prize of $500 in the Annual Exhibition of American Paintings was awarded to Henry O. Tanner of Paris, for a picture entitled "The Two Disciples at the Tomb," and the picture was purchased for the permanent collection of the Art Institute. The Martin B. Cahn prize of $100 was awarded to Alson S. Clark for a painting called "Coffee House." In the exhibition of Chicago Artists the Municipal Art League purchased for its permanent collection four pictures, viz: "Autumn Afternoon," by Charles Francis Browne; "Lingering Lamps," by J. William Pattison; "Day of the Market, Brittany," by Pauline Palmer; "A Breezy Day in the Harbor," by Anna L. Stacey. The silver medal, awarded by the votes of the Chicago Artists, was given to Lawton S. Parker for a picture entitled "An English Girl." Prizes were also awarded to Mrs. Pauline Palmer, Leonard Crunelle, Miss Clyde G. Chandler, A. E. Albright, and Frank V. Dudley. In the exhibition of the Society of Western Artists prizes were awarded to J. Ottis Adams of Indianapolis, C. F. Browne and O. D. Grover of Chicago, L. H. Meakin, Cincinnati, and F. O. Sylvester, St. Louis.

By far the most important acquisition of the year is the large ecclesiastical painting of El Greco, called "The Assumption of the Virgin", which was purchased in the summer of 1906 from Durand-Ruel of Paris for 200,000 francs. It is shown in the accompanying reproduction.

Domenikos Theotokopolos, called "El Greco" because he was a native of the Greek island of Crete, was born about 1548. When about 25 years old he was in Venice and Rome, in the time of Paul Veronese and Titian, and is said to have studied with the latter. At the age of about thirty he went to Spain, where he was the leading artist of his time until his death in 1614. He painted chiefly religious subjects, but also portraits and other subjects, even landscapes. As an artist he may be considered Spanish, just before the time of Velasquez. His paintings, often forcible and brilliant in execution, embody qualities which are especially acceptable to modern artists and critics.
EL GRECO
The Assumption of the Virgin
"The Assumption of the Virgin" is a great altar piece, painted on canvas, 13 ft. 2 in. high and 7 ft. 6 in. wide. The composition consists of two principal groups, the virgin and angels above, and the twelve apostles grouped round a sarcophagus below. It was painted for the reredos of the altar of the chapel of the convent of Santo Domingo el Antiguo in Toledo, Spain, in 1577, where it is now replaced by a modern copy. It passed into the possession of a branch of the Bourbon family and has been exhibited during late years in the Prado at Madrid. Its authenticity is unquestioned, and it is probably the most important work of the artist out of Spain.

A frame of suitable design has been ordered of Mr. Hermann Dudley Murphy of Boston.

Other important accessions are:

Greek Vases and other objects, 14 in number; of great interest and value. Presented by Martin A. Ryerson.

Oil Painting, Henry O. Tanner, "The Disciples at the Tomb." Purchased from the Stickney Bequest.

Collection of Historical American Pottery and Porcelain, 104 examples. Purchased from the Field Museum of Natural History.

Collection of Textile Fabrics, about 1,900 examples. Purchased from the Field Museum of Natural History.

Small Bronze Groups, 4 in number, American wild animals, by Edward Kemeys. Presented by Miss Margaret S. Watson, Stanley McCormick and others.

Oil Paintings, copies of school of Botticelli, in the Louvre, by Mrs. Mary Fairchild MacMonnies, (1) "Giovanna Tornabuoni and the Graces or Virtues." Presented by Frederic C. Bartlett.
(2) "Lorenzo Albizzi and the Liberal Arts." Presented by Robert H. Allerton.

A complete list of the accessions of the year accompanies this report.

The Art Institute is in good condition, and in view of the attendance of visitors and students to collections, library, lectures and school, it may claim to be one of the most popular and useful art institutions in America. It has not, however, yet come into possession of the great endowments and incomes of several other museums, and if we hope to hold our proper place in this generous rivalry in the promotion of art, there can be no relaxation in our efforts.

Supplement to the Report of the Trustees

When the Art Institute was organized in 1879, Mr. Charles L. Hutchinson, then a very young man, was made one of the Trustees. Two years later he was made Vice-President, and upon April 27, 1882, he was elected President, and at every annual meeting since that time he has been unanimously elected to the Presidency by the Trustees, so that he has held the office continuously for twenty-five years. The growth of the institution may be measured by the fact that in the year before his election (1881-2) the whole income was $7,285.82. Last year (1906-7) it was $154,929.30. To no person is the Art Institute so indebted as to Mr. Hutchinson, although many strong friends have united in building it up.

Deeming it suitable that there should be a permanent memorial of Mr. Hutchinson’s able and devoted service of a quarter of a century, the Trustees have determined to give to the gallery of Old Dutch Masters the permanent name of “The Charles Lawrence Hutchinson Gallery of Old Masters,” and the Trustees have as individuals proffered to the Art Institute a sum of money sufficient to fit up and decorate the gallery now occupied by these pictures, Room 32 of the South wing, in a similar manner to the fine galleries of the North wing, with mosaic floor, marble wainscoting, metal skylights, suitable tablet, etc.

It is well known that this collection of Old Masters, which constitutes one of the chief titles of the Art Institute to recognition among the art museums of the world, was secured for the Art Institute and brought to Chicago through the foresight and enterprise of Mr. Hutchinson, earnestly seconded by Mr. Ryerson. He presented one of the finest pictures, the Frans Hals, himself, and has found donors for most of the others. It is therefore altogether appropriate that his name should be permanently connected with the collection. The work of reconstructing and beautifying the gallery will be entered upon immediately.

Report of the Treasurer
June 1, 1906, to May 31, 1907.

The amount of Endowment Funds held by the Art Institute of Chicago on June 1, 1906 was $195,000.00.

The increase during the year has been as follows:

EVERETT AUDIT COMPANY,

By John Everett, C. P. A., President.
To the Board of Trustees of the Art Institute of Chicago:

Various re-installations have been made, partly in consequence of the additions made to the building, and partly in consequence of acquisitions of decorative objects. The Field Museum of Natural History, in pursuance of its policy of retiring altogether from the field of art, has made over to the Art Institute the small collection of porcelains and textiles in its possession. The portion of the porcelains found suitable for a fine art collection are now installed in wall cases in Room 46, the new corridor, and the textiles, most of which are small examples of old French and Italian fabrics, will be installed in swinging frames and placed in Room 45 or Room 46. Mr. Joseph Rosenbaum has again lent to us his fine collection of Ivories, numbering 163 examples, and they are well exhibited in suitable cases in the central portion of the new corridor, Room 47. Most of the cabinets, tables and ornamental woodwork, which occupied Room 43 a year ago, together with some other objects, have been retired from the collection as of modern or inferior workmanship, and Room 43 is now occupied by the paintings of Mr. Cyrus H. McCormick’s private collection. Room 31 is occupied by Mr. Logan’s fine collection. In Blackstone Hall, containing the great collection of architectural casts (Room 20), a decided improvement in installation has been made by dividing the space under the gallery by tile walls into recesses or alcoves, in which the smaller casts of architecture are classified as nearly as possible by schools and periods.

A new general catalogue of the collections has just been issued, compiled by Mr. George Corliss in his usual clear, accurate and thorough manner. As the collections increase the catalogue expands, and since it now forms a book of 357 pages (the illustrated edition 456 pages), it is probably the last time that we shall attempt to include the paintings, the sculptures and the other objects in one volume. Otherwise the descriptions of the catalogue cannot be much more full than the printed labels.

One of the four parts of Prof. Alfred Emerson's illustrated catalogue of sculpture, covering in 106 pages the examples in our collection of Oriental and early Greek art, has been issued, and the remaining parts are in preparation. It is a scholarly and satisfactory work as far as it has gone.

Mr. Garrett Chatfield Pier has published a descriptive catalogue of the most important scarab seals of our collection under the title "Historical Scarab Seals from the Art Institute, Chicago", meaning seals having names of royal personages, nobles and others connected with the court or government. This collection was purchased in 1894 from the Rev. Chauncey Murch, and is said to be the most important series of scarabs out of Egypt. Mr. Pier’s list constitutes a pamphlet of 20 pages, containing descriptions and cuts of about 270 seals chosen from the 700 of the collection, and was reprinted by the University of Chicago Press from The American Journal of Semitic Languages and Literatures.

The usual series of exhibitions has been held through the year. The following is a complete list:

Bartlett, and Miss Anna Lynch; one, a foreign artist, Alphonse Mucha; and two, other American artists, H. D. Murphy of Boston, and Birge Harrison of Bearsville, N. Y. There was also an exhibition of a group of four New York illustrators, Peixotto, Richardson, Stevens and Lowell, of whom all but the first were formerly of Chicago.
The foreign exhibitions have been those of Mucha's works in the autumn and of German Artists in March. The latter was a circulating collection brought to America through the exertions of Dr. Charles M. Kurtz, Director of the Buffalo Fine Arts Academy, who performs a valuable service to the country in thus securing exhibitions of contemporary foreign works. It includes works of Lenbach, Stuck, Menzel, Von Bartels, Clarenbach, Hübner, Kuehl, Schramm-Zittau, Küstner and others.

For the students of the Art Institute, October 24, 25, 31, November 1, 7, 8, 19, 22, 23. Nine lectures by Alphonse Mucha.

On January 24, Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith repeated his lecture of January 23 on "Impressionism and Realism," for the students of the Art Institute.

The address at the end of the school year, June 15, 1906, was delivered by Rev. Judson Titsworth of Milwaukee, upon "The Art of Life."

There have been many lectures by leaders of classes in the galleries, and many meetings of classes in the Library class-room.

The third course of the Scammon Lectures was delivered in March, 1907, by Professor William Angus Knight of England. The general subject was "Outlines of Lectures on a few of the XIX Century English Artists", a discussion of the work of Turner, Ruskin, Watts, Rossetti, Burne Jones and other Pre-Raphaelites. Prof. Knight, long a professor at St. Andrews and the author of many books upon poetry, philosophy and esthetics, was personally acquainted with most of the artists of whom he spoke. The literary quality of his lectures, and the earnestness and authority of the lecturer made the course highly interesting and it was attended by a large audience. The lectures will be published in similar form to the lectures of 1904 by Russell Sturgis.

The Scammon Lectures of next year will be delivered by M. Alphonse Mucha, the well-known designer and poster maker.
The usual lectures upon Art and Architecture have been given by Mr. Pattison, Mr. Taft, Mr. Browne, and Mr. Otis. A special course upon "Great Periods of Mural Decoration" was given by Professor George Breed Zug of the University of Chicago.

The galleries have been open to visitors every day from June 1, 1906, to June 1, 1907, 199 pay days and 166 free days.

The attendance of visitors to the museum has been as follows:

The total attendance of visitors during the year has been 522,094. We have in former years enumerated the students of the school once a day in reckoning the aggregate museum attendance, following in this the practice of older museums. Counting in the same way this year, our total attendance would be 661,204, but since the practice is now generally abandoned, we have this year relinquished it also, and in consequence our attendance appears to be more diminished than it really is. The real diminution compared with last year is 103,741, of which we do not know the reason except that there were no exceptionally popular exhibitions like the Tissot and Collier exhibitions of the previous years. Our attendance is second only to the Metropolitan of New York, and sometimes surpasses that.

The publications of the year have been as follows:

Catalogues of the Exhibitions of the Salon of the Federation of Photographic Societies of America, of the Art Students' League of Chicago, of the Chicago Architectural Club, of the Atlan Ceramic Club and of the National League of Mineral Painters have been issued by the respective Societies, as well as a great number of notices, circulars and statements of the Art Institute.

A valuable and scholarly Catalogue of the more important scarab seals of our Egyptian collection has been published by Mr. Garrett Chatfield Pier, under the title, "Historical Scarab Seals from the Art Institute, Chicago.

In no department are the activity and usefulness of the Art Institute better illustrated than in the Ryerson Library.
The number of the books, about 4,500, is so small as to excite a smile from those familiar with the figures of greater libraries. It is, however, strictly confined to fine art, the books are selected with the greatest care, and it constitutes a working library of remarkable utility and availability. It is associated with the large school of art practice, and upon the free days of the museum, Wednesday and Saturday, it is really a free public library. The expense of maintenance of the Ryerson Library, including salaries, heat, light, repairs of books, etc., is about $3,500. The number of consulting visitors is nearly 40,000 a year, about one-half or one-third that of the great Newberry and Crerar libraries, which have 35 or 40 times as many books as our library. The expense of maintenance in our library is not far from eight cents to a visitor.

Miss Jessie L. Forrester, our Librarian, has been sixteen years in the continuous service of the Art Institute, and has had charge of the organization and administration of the library ever since it became worthy to be called a library. She possesses in an eminent degree the qualities of the successful librarian—method, accuracy, discrimination, courtesy, industry—and has always shown the enthusiastic devotion to the interests of the Art Institute, which may be said to be characteristic of its officers. Under her supervision the Ryerson Library has come to be known as a model of its kind. Miss Forrester now asks a year's leave of absence for the recuperation of her health. In June, 1906, Miss Hope Mason, the Assistant Librarian, resigned and her place has been satisfactorily filled by Miss Mary Van Horne. During the past year the books have overflowed the alcoves, and we have begun to establish bookstacks in the large stack-room below, which it is estimated will accommodate 75,000 volumes. The small photographs of architecture, painting, etc., have been arranged systematically and now number 4,411. The collection of slides has increased to 2,834. The librarian's report gives full details.

The question of allowing special privileges with regard to photographing and reproducing the paintings and other objects belonging to the museum, is raised from time to time. In this matter, as in all others, the interest of the public only is considered by the management. Our practice is to issue permits to photograph freely, taking precautions only against the reproduction of loan objects and against inconveniencing visitors. To attempt to derive a small income from this source seems unworthy of a public museum. To attempt exclusiveness also is an inconsistency, and, in point of fact, there is an advantage in the widest dissemination of the works in the collection. The visitor, who sees the original of a picture already made familiar by reproductions, is happily impressed. In some cases, as with the Detroit Photograph Company and Ad. Braun & Co. of Paris, we have taken great pains to facilitate photographing, but we have granted no special privileges. In such cases we request, but do not require, that the publishers shall contribute a set of their reproductions to our library, and they have hitherto always been happy to do so. Of course, we know that the photographer can copyright his own reproductions, so that not even we ourselves can make use of them. The principle upon which all such questions are settled is that the collections are for the benefit of the people, and that they ought to have the freest use of them compatible with safety and administration.

There have been no important changes in the school. The attendance has been as follows:

The increase in the total number of students has been from 2,377 in 1905-6 to 2,563 in 1906-7, or 8 per cent; in the day school from 815 to 949, or 16 per cent. The tuition fees this year are, $53,349.89; last year, $48,446.32, an increase of $4,903.57, or 10 per cent. The expenses have increased from $51,089.39 to $56,339.80, or 10 1-3 per cent, and there is a deficit of $2,989.91.

By authority of the Trustees the tuition fee will be increased for the next year by about 20 per cent, so that the regular day student will pay $30 for the term of twelve weeks instead of $25, and other classes proportionately. During the twenty-eight years of the existence of the school the tuition fee has never before been raised. Meanwhile the privileges of students have widened indefinitely; especially what may be called the accessory advantages of the school, such as lectures, library, exhibitions, diverse classes, etc., have been increased tenfold.

Mr. Frederic Richardson, the illustrator, of New York, gave a course of instruction in composition, most useful and acceptable to the students in January.

Mr. Alphonse Mucha, distinguished in Paris as an artist and designer, visited the school in October and November, and delivered a course of ten lectures on Composition and Color, and also conducted a class in drawing from life. Although Mr. Mucha's drawings, especially his poster designs, give the impression of great freedom and even waywardness, he is a master of academic drawing, and his theories of execution are well formulated. His inculcation in advanced life classes of flowing line rather than academic blocking was most wholesome, and was cordially accepted by both students and teachers. His lectures, although at the disadvantage of being delivered through an interpreter, were the most fully attended students' course we have ever had, the average attendance being 446. Mr. Mucha is engaged again to teach a class in the spring of 1908, and to deliver the Scammon Lectures of that year.

Mr. Ernest Peixotto, illustrator, of New York, is also engaged to give instruction in drawing and design in pen-and-ink in December, 1907.

Mr. Lorado Taft, the sculptor, after having conducted the classes of modelling and sculpture for twenty-one years, retires this year from class instruction, but will remain lecturer upon sculpture. The remarkable success of this department of our school under Mr. Taft is well recognized by all conversant with the recent history of sculpture in America. Among his pupils may be mentioned C. J. Mulligan, Leonard Crunelle, Carl A. Heber, Bessie Potter Vonnoh, Janet Scudder, Nellie Walker, and Evelyn B. Longman.

The following movements among our instructors may be noted: Mr. A. E. Philbrick and Mr. A. H. Krehbiel returned from Europe last autumn, and have taught in the school during the last year. Mr. Albert Buehr, Miss C. D. Wade, and Mr. Walton have spent the year in Sicily, Paris, and Germany respectively. Miss Wade and Mr. Walton will return in the autumn. Miss Enella Benedict is now on a journey to Italy. Mr. Frederick Oswald will visit Europe this summer and return to the school in the autumn, deferring his studies abroad till next year. Mr. Boutwood of the Evening School also visits England this summer. Mr. Vanderpoel has received leave of absence for a year and will go to Paris. Mr. Vanderpoel was appointed an instructor in the school at a very early age in 1879 and has been in the service of the Art Institute continuously for twenty-eight years. Reckoning his period of study in the Academy of Design, the lineal predecessor of our school, from 1875, he has been connected with the institution thirty-two years. Mr. Vanderpoel is distinguished as a teacher of the drawing of the human figure—a speciality in which he has no superior. He is embodying the results of his experience in a book for artists and art students entitled, “The Human Figure, Drawing and Construction,” which promises to be a most important contribution to the subject. It is beautifully and copiously illustrated by reproductions of drawings, and will reflect credit upon the Art Institute.

One of the problems of the school has been to promote the practice of composition. The art student, perhaps in common with other students, is in general averse to mental exertion. He likes best to stand up and draw and paint from the living model; but to invent a picture and to relate his figures so as to express something, is an exertion for which too often he has little taste. The school has in past years fostered composition by prizes and by actual problems of mural decoration, but the solution of the difficulty is presenting itself from an unexpected quarter, namely, in connection with the classes of illustration. Illustration is, of course, a continuous exercise in composition for definite purposes. The subjects may be trivial, but they may also be dignified, and the student of illustration forms a habit of inventing and composing. Hence, when a subject was proposed to the advanced students this spring for a mural decoration 16 ft. long and 6 ft. high—an actual decoration for a public school building—sketches were presented by twenty-three students, most diverse in subject, none of them bad and many of them of decided merit, and of these twenty-one were from the students of illustration. The best of these compositions are now in course of actual execution, full size, with the free use of living models and accessories, under the supervision of the teachers. We thus approximate closely to the old relation of master and apprentice, which is so warmly advocated in some quarters.
This report is accompanied by the report of the Librarian of the Ryerson Library, and by complete lists of the accessions to the collections and to the library.

Very respectfully,

Wm. M. R. French, Director.
Report of the Librarian.

Chicago, June 6, 1907.

To the Director and Trustees of the Art Institute of Chicago:

The growing usefulness and interest in the library are most satisfactory. Although the books have not yet reached the number of 5,000, there is scarcely a volume on the shelves that has not fulfilled its mission of real and lasting service to the student.

The total number of volumes received during the year by gift, purchase, and subscription is 407, of which 33 have been placed in the Circulating Department and 374 in the Reference Department. The accessions comprise 48 volumes on architecture, 98 on decorative design and applied art, 12 on sculpture, 69 on drawing and painting, including illustration, composition, and artistic anatomy, 51 on the history, theory and practice of art, 7 on landscape gardening, 42 illustrated catalogues, guide-books, etc., 18 on archaeology, 12 on engraving, and 50 bound volumes of periodicals.

The total number of bound volumes in the library is 4,540. The number in the accession book reaches 4,906. The difference is due to changes in rebinding, the transfer of volumes to the Catalogue Department, and yearly losses since 1885. Of the books lost during the last year, 21 in number, almost all are small and unimportant, and some will doubtless be returned. Such losses are incidental to open shelves and freedom of privilege.
Several valuable acquisitions have been made this year by gift and purchase, conspicuous among them is "The Complete Work of Rembrandt," eight volumes with reproductions of all his known works, the text by W. Bode, and the entire work published by Sedelmeyer of Paris. Ewald's work on "Farbige Dekorationen," is another very important work which has been added—especially valuable to students of design. Mr. Getty, with his unfailing generosity, has again remembered the library by presenting several volumes of "The Connoisseur," the second volume of Macquoid's History of English Furniture, having already given the first volume, and two other works on furniture, along with several illustrated catalogues. Mr. F. A. Wells, Mr. Woodhead, Mr. Roloson, and Mrs. T. B. Blackstone have also presented valuable volumes. Mention was made in the last report of the complete dictionary and subject catalogue of the pamphlets. This catalogue is installed with the catalogue of the books, and is already of good service. The work on it continues, as catalogues are being daily added to the collection—another item illustrating the never ending nature of the work of the librarian.

The alcoves are unusually well adapted for the Dewey classification. On first taking possession of the Ryerson Library, an alcove promised to afford ample space for any one subject for many years, and the arrangement was very satisfactory. But the departments of architecture, decorative design, and drawing and painting have increased so rapidly that there is a decided overflow, and in order to keep subjects together, it has been found necessary to rearrange the entire library, and make immediate use of the stack-room below the library proper or reading-room.

A plan for the permanent arrangement of book stacks filling the entire space below the library has been carefully studied and adopted, and a beginning has been made by the installation of two 9 by 7 ft. stacks. These stacks furnish accommodation for the binders containing the pamphlets, several sets of bound periodicals and a few miscellaneous volumes not in very frequent demand. These volumes can all be consulted readily by applying to the librarian. The stacks were provided by Mr. Ryerson and came from the Art Metal Construction Company of Jamestown, N. Y.

The Mrs. D. K. Pearsons collection of photographs continues to be a feature of the library of the highest value. It is highly desirable that it should be brought up to date by the addition of the subjects published by Braun & Cie. since the formation of the collection in 1893.

During the last year a system of installation and cataloguing of the miscellaneous photographs has been adopted. The photographs are mounted on uniform stiff gray cards, 11 by 14 inches, which are set on edge in drawers, in the manner of a card catalogue. They are catalogued by the initial letter of the subject, then by the number representing the country, and finally by artists’ names, alphabetically. These photographs now number 4,411, of which 2,460 are architectural subjects (especially Italian architecture), 1,183 sculpture, 524 painting, 74 decoration, and 40 miscellaneous. The photographs added this year have been purchased from the income of the Kent bequest. The collection is kept in the stack-room below, and is installed, classified, and catalogued so as to be most accessible to students. When issued to students or lent to clubs, each photograph is slipped into a stout paper envelope, which serves the purpose of a frame and protects it from injury. Sixty large sized photographs of Italian architecture have also been received for the Blackstone collection.

Another department which is growing rapidly in usefulness and numbers is the collection of stereopticon slides, installed in the library class room, amounting to about 2,834 numbers. The nucleus of this collection was made in 1892, when Mr. Otis found it necessary to illustrate his lectures on architecture for the students. All these slides are at the disposal of the various lecturers at the Art Institute, and relate to many branches of art. They are under the immediate care of Miss Julia C. Drenning, who is arranging and cataloguing them.

The Library Class Room, situated under the library proper, is a valuable accessory to the library in accommodating art classes with their teachers who wish not only to inspect, but to discuss the photographs and books. 921 photographs have been taken out in this way; 102 have been lent to clubs outside the building; 260 persons have registered during the year to consult the photographs in the library proper, and 214 of the miscellaneous collection have been lent to art classes.

2,581 books have been issued during the year to students of architecture and decorative design for use in the class room. In the Circulating Department 747 volumes have been issued to regular students of the Art Institute.

- Students consulting books, - - - - 33,419

Miss Mary Van Horne was appointed Assistant Librarian in June, 1906, to take the place of Miss Hope Mason, now Mrs. Tolman. The success of the library is in a great measure due to the efficient service rendered by Miss Van Horne and Miss Christopher. The student assistants engaged in the library during the year have also proved most satisfactory.
A complete list of gifts and other acquisitions to the library accompanies this report.

Very respectfully,

shall be ex officio members of the Board of Trustees. In addition to the Trustees provided for in this section, the Mayor and Comptroller of the City of Chicago shall be ex officio members of the Board of Trustees, this provision to take effect and be in force from and after the time when the Art Institute of Chicago shall occupy a building to be upon the Lake Front Park, so-called, east of Michigan Avenue, according to the terms of an ordinance passed by the City Council of said city, and this provision shall be in force only so long as such building is so occupied.

Sec. 2. Regular meetings of the Board of Trustees shall be held upon the first Thursday after the first Tuesday in June, and upon the last Thursday of October and January in each year. Special meetings may be called by the President at any time, and shall be called upon the written request of three Trustees. Seven Trustees shall constitute a quorum.

Sec. 3. The meeting at which these By-Laws shall be adopted shall be held to be the first regular meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Sec. 4. At the first regular meeting of the Board of Trustees, after the annual election each year, the Trustees shall choose by ballot, from their own number, a President and Vice-President. They shall also choose from their number five persons, who with the President and Vice-President shall constitute an Executive Committee, and the President of the Art Institute shall be ex officio Chairman of the Executive Committee. They shall also choose by ballot a Secretary and a Treasurer.
Sec. 5. The President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Executive Committee shall hold office one year, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified respectively. Vacancies in any of the above named offices may be filled by the Board of Trustees at any of its meetings.

ARTICLE III.

OF DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

Section 1. The President shall preside at all meetings of Governing Members, and the Board of Trustees, and shall sign certificates of membership.

Sec. 2. The Vice-President shall be vested with the powers and perform the duties of the President in case of the President's absence or inability to act.

Sec. 3. The Secretary shall make and preserve complete records of all meetings of the Governing Members, and of the Board of Trustees, and shall perform such other appropriate duties as may be required by the Executive Committee.

Sec. 4. The Treasurer shall receive and keep funds of the Art Institute and shall disburse the same only under the direction of the Executive Committee, upon the order of the President, countersigned by the Secretary. His books shall be open at all times to the inspection of Trustees. He shall make a full financial exhibit of the institution at the annual meeting of Governing Members, and shall make such additional reports from time to time as may he required by the Executive Committee. He shall give a bond in such amount, and with such surety as shall be approved by the Executive Committee, for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office.

Sec. 5. The Executive Committee shall have full control of the affairs of the Art Institute, under the general direction of the Board of Trustees.

ARTICLE IV.

OF AMENDMENTS.

These By-Laws may be amended at any regular meeting of the Trustees, by a two-thirds vote of all the members present, provided the amendment shall have been proposed at the last regular meeting preceding, or shall be recommended by the Executive Committee.
Form of Bequest.

I do hereby give and bequeath to The Art Institute of Chicago, in the City of Chicago, a corporation created under the statutes of Illinois, to be applied to the uses and purposes of said institution.

The Trustees are deeply grateful to those who have already made gifts and bequests, and most earnestly solicit all those wishing to aid and encourage the Trustees in the work that the Art Institute is accomplishing, either to give or bequeath to it, money, pictures, sculpture, or books for its library. Endowments are greatly needed for the purchase of paintings, sculpture and books, and for prizes, lectures, additional buildings, the art school, etc.
Honorary Members.

Honorary members are chosen from among persons who have rendered eminent services to the institution, who have claim to the rank of artists or patrons of art.
