THE ART INSTITUTE OF CHICAGO was incorporated May 24, 1879, for the "founding and maintenance of schools of art and design, the formation and exhibition of collections of objects of art, and the cultivation and extension of the arts of design by any appropriate means." The Museum building upon the Lake Front, first occupied in 1893, is open to the public every week day from 9 to 5, Sundays from 1 to 5. Admission is free to members and their families at all times, and free to all upon Wednesdays, Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays.

The Art School, in the same building, includes departments of Drawing, Painting, Sculpture, Illustration, Decorative Designing, Normal Instruction, and Architecture.

All friends of the Art Institute are invited to become members. Annual Members pay a fee of ten dollars a year. Life Members pay one hundred dollars and are thenceforth exempt from dues. Governing Members pay one hundred dollars upon election and twenty-five dollars a year thereafter. Upon the payment of four hundred dollars Governing Members become Governing Life Members and are thenceforth exempt from dues. All receipts from life memberships are invested and the income only expended.

All members are entitled, with their families and visiting friends, to admission to all exhibitions, receptions, public lectures, and entertainments given by the Art Institute, and to the use of the Ryerson reference library upon art.

Chicago, June 6, 1911.

To the Governing Members of the Art Institute of Chicago:

The most noteworthy features of the last year have been the improvement of the building by the construction and opening of the central staircase and by the addition of the new office building; the accessions to the picture collections through the gifts of Mr. Edward B. Butler and of the Friends of American Art; and the large increase in the attendance of visitors in the galleries.

The building improvements have been numerous and important. The commodious new passenger elevator was completed and put in operation in the summer of 1910. About the same time the North print-room was finished and occupied by etchings of Pennell, Haden and Webster. Through the liberality of Miss Martha S. Hill desirable changes have been made in Fullerton Memorial Hall: the audience room has been made thoroughly fireproof by the removal of the wooden floor and stage, and the substitution of cement and mosaic. The additions to the school-rooms through the extensions North and South have come into full use. The school office has been removed to a position near the center of the long range of class rooms on the East of the building. Access to the school is gained by crossing the large architectural gallery, Blackstone Hall. A thorough ventilation plant on the Garner system has now been introduced in the school, and is highly satisfactory.

A large and handsome room, No. 160 of the ground floor, has been fitted up for the meetings of the many art societies and clubs which make their headquarters, or hold occasional meetings, at the Art Institute.

An office building has been constructed at the northeast corner of the museum building, furnishing accommodation for the offices of the Director and Secretary and their assistants, and a Trustee room. The former office of the Secretary, near the main entrance, has become a check room for wraps, a convenience much needed.

Most important of all, the great central staircase, the monumental feature of the building, has been partially constructed, and is now in use, though not completed. Means have not yet been found to meet the expense of constructing the dome, but a lofty temporary skylight has been erected over the center of the building. Much remains to be done. While the stairs themselves are completed in marble, the balusters are temporarily of iron, and the walls, which ultimately are to be lined with marble, are in rough brick tinted to match the marble. Nothing since the original erection of the museum has done so much as the construction of this grand stair-case to dignify and ennoble the building. Immediately upon entering the visitor is aware that he is in a great public building devoted to art. It is to be hoped that some liberal friend at no distant day will furnish the means to complete the dome in a suitable manner.

The Art Institute has now fully occupied all the land allotted to it by the city in 1891, west of the railroad tracks. We are still pressed for room. There is only one direction in which extensions can be made, and that is eastward over the railroad tracks. The Illinois Central Railway Company has generously granted us permission to enlarge our building in this direction, and plans have been prepared for the addition. We now appeal to the many friends of the Art Institute for the necessary money to erect the contemplated improvement.

One of the most valuable and important single gifts in the history of the Art Institute is that of Mr. Edward B. Butler, announced in March, 1911, of eighteen paintings by George Inness. The paintings are from the collection of Mr. Emerson McMillan of New York, and cover a wide range of time and of subject. A gallery, Room 51, has been appropriated to the installation of these pictures, and Mr. Butler has generously offered to fit it up suitably for their reception. The pictures are already on exhibition. A complete list will be found in the List of Accessions.

Mention was made in last year’s Report of the formation of a society called the Friends of American Art, whose principal object is “the development of American Art by the purchase of works by American artists to be presented to the Art Institute of Chicago.” This society, of which Mr. Wm. O. Goodman is the President, has been most successful and active, and now includes 165 members, each of whom engages to contribute $200 a year for five years for the objects of the society. The Trustees with great pleasure acknowledge their indebtedness to the Friends of American Art. It is the most important art movement in Chicago in recent years, and far surpasses any other similar movement in the world. The first purchases of pictures, eight in number, from the Annual Autumn Exhibition, not only formed a valuable accession to the collections, but contributed much to the success of future exhibitions. Additional purchases have been made through the year until the whole list of accessions numbers eighteen, already constituting a fine little collection. A complete list will be found in the List of Accessions.

The total number of visitors to the galleries has been 704,239. Last year it was 546,775, showing an increase of 157,464. Counting students once a day, the attendance has been 859,778. The whole number of students in the school has been 2,903. The number of visitors to the library has been 79,418. (For details, see Report of the Director.) No special reason is known for the increase in attendance except the attractive character of the exhibitions and the growing importance and popularity of the Institute.

The receipts applicable to operating expenses of the museum, derived from memberships, door fees, catalogue sales, the South Park tax, and sundry other sources, have amounted to $132,595.52, while the operating expenses (including the Ryerson Library and Fullerton Memorial Hall) have been $123,151.87, a surplus of $9,443.65.
In the school department the receipts from tuition fees, locker fees, matriculation fees and sundry sources have been $69,474.73, while the expenditure, for salaries, models, heat, light, janitor service, accessions, etc., have been $75,010.04, a deficit of $6,435.31.

The income from endowment, part of which is restricted, has been $20,606.63, and $17,507.29 have been expended for paintings for the galleries, books for the library, scholarships, prizes, and the Scammon lectures, leaving a surplus of $3,099.34.

Upon June 1, 1910, the invested funds were $404,700. During the last fiscal year they have been increased by the following receipts:

Amount received from 150 Life memberships . . . $15,000.00
‘ ‘ ‘ ‘ Simeon B. Williams Fund . 10,000.00
‘ ‘ ‘ ‘ 11 Gov. Life memberships . 1,600.00
‘ ‘ ‘ ‘ Insurance fund . . . . 1,271.35

$27,871.35

So that the present amount of invested funds is $432,571.35.

The indebtedness of the Art Institute June 1, 1910, was $143,450.00.

This has been reduced by receipts from the sale of real estate bequeathed by Catherine M. White . 16,800.00

And by a payment from the general funds of . . . 4,000.00

And by a gift of James Viles, account vases . . . 2,250.00

And by a payment from the income of the Stickney fund, account of the Meryon etchings . . . . 2,400.00

$118,000.00

And increased by loans, account of building additions and acquisitions . . . . . 74,500.00

So that the total liabilities now are . . . . . $192,500.00
The Art Institute also holds real estate in Evanston and Chicago valued at $72,595, constituting the residue of the Catherine M. White estate. A list of the endowment funds will be found in the Treasurer's report, page —. The Life Membership Fund, founded in 1897, now amounts to $93,800.

With regard to membership, there has been a large increase in the number of life members, but a decrease in the number of annual members. The record at present stands:

The governing membership is limited to 200, in whom are vested the property and government of the institution. During the past year eight governing members have died, as follows:

James L. Houghteling
Lewis J. Coburn
E. J. Warner
Lambert Tree

Edward L. Brewster
Joseph T. Bowen
John H. Wrenn
Michael Cudahy

The following five members have resigned:

Wm. H. Bartlett
Charles J. Barnes
W. F. Cobb

W. B. Conkey
L. W. Fargo

Four new governing members have been elected and have qualified, Edward F. Swift, John G. Shedd, Edward L. Ryerson and Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, and there are now 178 governing members.

The most valuable accessions to the collections during the past year have been the following:

Eighteen Oil Paintings by George Inness, presented by Edward B. Butler. For list see List of Accessions.

Eighteen Oil Paintings by various American artists, presented by the Friends of American Art. For list see List of Accessions.

Egyptian Objects; carved stone slabs and other sculptured stone fragments, a mummy and mummy case, decorated mummy masks, vases and statuettes of stone and bronze.

Four Oil Paintings from the collection of Charles W. Fullerton, presented by Miss Martha S. Hill, as follows:

Felix Ziem  "Venetian Square"
Will H. Low  "The orange vendor"
Emil van Marcke  "A cow"
J. H. L. de Haas  "Cattle in field"

Oil Painting, Joaquin Sorolla y Bastida, "The two sisters, Valencia." Presented by Mrs. Elizabeth H. North, in memory of William S. North.

Thirty-three hand-wrought American Coverlets, collected by Mrs. Florence S. Babbitt. Presented by Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus.

Oil Painting, Boutet de Monvel, "Joan of Arc at the Court of Chinon." Purchased.

Oil Painting, Edouard Manet, "The Beggar." Purchased.

Bronze Statue, John Donoghue, "The Young Sophocles." Put into bronze by Robert Allerton.

Very few money bequests or gifts have been received during the year. The following communication from Miss Anna P. Williams and Miss Cornelia B. Williams explains a gift very welcome to the trustees:

"July 13, 1910—As our father for many years evinced much interest in the Art Institute, we desire to connect his name with it by a memorial gift of ten thousand dollars ($10,000), the amount to be kept as a permanent fund to be known as 'The Simeon B. Williams Fund,' the income from which is to be used for the purchase of pictures, statuary, or other art objects for the permanent collection of the Art Institute."

The income from the Ferguson Monument Fund, which is administered by the Trustees of the Art Institute, has been $21,394.98. As was mentioned in the Report of 1908, an order has been given to Lorado Taft, sculptor, for a fountain in memory of the donor, Mr. Benjamin F. Ferguson, to be placed at the south end of the Art Institute. This work is in progress, but not completed. It has been determined that the next monument to be erected out of the Ferguson Fund income shall be a memorial of the miners who lost their lives in the attempt to rescue their comrades in the Cherry Mine disaster, and shall be in the form of a fountain to be located on the West Side of the City of Chicago. All details of design, choice of sculptor, etc., are intrusted to the Art Committee of the Art Institute.

The By-Laws have been so amended that in future there will be two Vice-Presidents instead of one, and three Trustees will be elected each year for a seven-year term instead of seven Trustees for a three-year term. The former amendment is intended to provide more certainly for the presence in the city of a chief executive officer; the second to insure continuity in the administration.

During the past season a series of Sunday Afternoon Orchestra Concerts, managed by the Philanthropy Department of the Chicago Woman’s Club, has been held in Fullerton Memorial Hall, beginning October 16 and closing April 23. Two concerts were given each Sunday at 2:30 and 4 o’clock, and a charge of admission of ten cents was made. The course has proved popular and successful, and has been attended by an aggregate of 22,346 persons. The receipts have paid the expenses and left a small favorable balance.
We have again suffered the loss of one of our Honorary Members: Halsey C. Ives, the Director of the City Art Museum of St. Louis, died suddenly in London, May 5, 1911.

The St. Louis Museum and School of Art was firmly established under Prof. Ives' direction before the formation of the Art Institute, and from the beginning the Trustees and Officers of the Art Institute availed themselves of the counsel and cooperation of Prof. Ives. As is well known, he was closely identified with the art interests of the United States for many years, was Chief of the Department of Fine Art in both the Chicago and St. Louis World's Fairs, was commissioned by the government to report upon art education in Europe, and received honors and decorations from many European countries. His connection with the Columbian Exposition in 1893 enabled him to assist the Art Institute in acquiring valuable collections, especially of modern French statues and of the architectural sculpture which forms the magnificent Blackstone Collection. He was probably the oldest in service of all the officers of art museums in America.

The Trustees record their sorrow for his death, and their sense of obligation for the services he has rendered the Art Institute.

In conclusion; a great work, such as that in which we are engaged, requires great resources. With the means at our disposal we have accomplished much. We have made our museum, our school, our library and our various departments respected by other institutions, and subjects of pride to our own citizens. We wish to advance along the whole line, to add greatly to our collections, to extend and adorn our building, to increase the privileges and raise the standard of the school, to enlarge the library, to engage in research work, to carry on popular extension in various directions, and to meet adequately all the thousand demands upon us. We have never received the magnificent gifts of such institutions as the art museums of New York, Boston and Worcester, but we hope we have demonstrated our ability to administer great trusts when they are committed to us. We therefore confidently urge our claims upon our public spirited fellow citizens, assuring them that the Art Institute in the future as in the past will be administered solely for the public good.

June 1, 1911.
To the Board of Trustees of the Art Institute of Chicago:

The contrast between an institution like the Art Institute and the old art museums of Europe or this country is very great. Formerly there were no changing exhibitions, no schools of instruction, no lecture courses, no library for public uses, none of the manifold modern activities. The sedate officers of administration saw to it that the accessions were duly cared for, and the permanent collections kept in order. This, with the preparation of permanent catalogues and such research work as they were disposed to perform, made up their duties.

The Art Institute is at once a store house, a university, and a general exchange for art for the whole middle west. The multifarious functions tax to the utmost the powers of a very moderate staff. The school has as many students as most universities, who must all be provided for and instructed. The report of the librarian shows the diverse duties of that department. The library has four times as many visitors as the large art libraries in London or New York. Thirty temporary exhibitions in the year, in which every picture or other art object must be recorded, suitably exhibited, and safely returned, entail much precise labor. The same may be said of the thirty-five catalogues and publications, big and little, of the year. A large part of this report is a chronicle of these various activities.
It has been an occasion of regret in past years that the Art Institute has had no adequate representation of American paintings. This defect, at least as relates to contemporary painters, has suddenly been remedied by the developments of the past year, especially the acquisition of the Inness Collection and the purchases of the Friends of American Art, and there are at present six exhibition rooms exclusively occupied by American paintings, besides important works scattered through the Nickerson, Munger and Stickney Collections. The American galleries are as follows:

Room 47a and 48. Continuous Exhibition, Artists of Chicago.
Room 50. Various American paintings belonging to the permanent collection.
Room 51. Inness Collection, gift of Edward B. Butler.
Room 52a. Purchases of Municipal Art League.

At the present moment there are six other galleries occupied by the 515 pictures of the Annual American Water-Color Exhibition.

A valuable piece of museum work has been done in the department of classical antiquities by Dr. Alfred Emerson and Miss Lucy Driscoll. The collection of Greek vases has been subjected to a thorough examination and cleaning. Twenty-four of the seventy-eight vases in the collection, including most of the large painted pieces, were found to be repainted wholly or in part. Modern paint had been used by a professional restorer to mask the broken condition of the ancient vase, to brighten vestiges of antique color, or to add detail to the original design. In the case of thirteen, the broken vase was entirely covered with a thin layer of stucco, upon which the modern restorer painted a new copy of the old decoration, so that except in shape the vase displayed no trace of ancient work. Modern paint and stucco are now entirely removed. The resulting unsightliness of exposed repairs is quite outweighed by the fact that the ancient work is now visible. Only one vase became unfit for exhibition and was withdrawn. New labels are in course of preparation.

The General Catalogue has been revised and brought up to date. Although much new material has been added, the volume has been reduced by sixty-eight pages and to little more than half the thickness of the last edition. This reduction in bulk is due to a careful re-editing of the material and discarding of the non-essential, and to the use of a light-weight opaque paper. The result is a compact, easily handled volume, including information about every object in the permanent collections. The editing of a handbook of this kind is difficult, and the information is necessarily summary. It does not, of course, fill the place of scholarly departmental catalogues, but it is exceedingly useful to visitors who wish to have in convenient and inexpensive form fuller information than it is possible for labels to afford.

Our President and one of our Vice-Presidents, Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. Ryerson, and some of the officers of the Antiquarians have again travelled abroad during the year, and have purchased valuable objects, old carvings, textiles, and terra-cottas for the collection.

Miss Bessie Bennett, who has been an assistant of the Director for more than fifteen years, and who is especially versed in the decorative arts, has been sent to Europe by the Trustees to study the subjects of her department, especially textiles. She will make a somewhat extended tour, and will study for a time with Prof. Paul Schulze, Director of the Royal Textile Museum at Crefeld, Germany, who visited the Art Institute last year for the purpose of classifying our textile collection.

During January, 1911, Dr. Edwin Atlee Barber, the Director of the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art in Philadelphia, visited the Art Institute and examined and classified the collection of pottery and porcelain. These collections, while not large, are of considerable value.

The Department of Prints has been organized by the appointment of a committee of three gentlemen well known as collectors, to take charge of the collection, Mr. Clarence Buckingham, Mr. Wallace L. DeWolf and Mr. Kenneth S. Goodman. Mr. Goodman has been appointed Curator of the department, and Mrs. T. W. Stevens, assistant in charge of the collections.

The exhibition of works by the distinguished Spanish painter, Senor Joaquin Sorolla y Bastida, from February 14 to March 12, was one of the most popular and interesting features of the year. The pictures, imported under the auspices of the Hispanic Society of New York, Mr. Archer
M. Huntington, President, covered a wide range of subjects and included portraits, figure studies in the studio and in the open air, sketches of landscapes, gardens and architectural motifs, etc. The most generally interesting canvases were those painted on the beach at Valencia—the sketching ground which the painter has made so notably his own.

One of the most important of these beach pictures, entitled "The two sisters, Valencia," has been purchased and presented to the Art Institute for the permanent collection. The gift was made by Mrs. Elizabeth H. North, in memory of her husband, the late William S. North.

Sr. Sorolla himself accompanied the exhibition, and more than redeemed his promise concerning work in the school. He believed that the greatest benefit from his visit could be derived by instructing a class of the younger teachers. The teachers were quite willing to take up the work, and the class worked daily for five or six weeks, painting from life and making drawings and sketches. Sr. Sorolla personally manifests the same force, magnetism and exuberance that are expressed in his paintings, and his instruction is cheerful and sympathetic in the extreme. The advantage to the school of such generosity on his part is evident.

During the year there have been eleven exhibitions of individual artists. Of these eight had some relation to Chicago, by former residence or otherwise, namely: Walter Shirlaw, William A. Harper, Jane Peterson, George Hitchcock and Mrs. Cecil Jay Hitchcock (jointly), Carl Lindin, John C. Johansen and Mrs. M. Jean McLane Johansen (jointly), Adam Emory Albright and Arthur B. Davies. The other three were Henry Rankin Poore, Joaquin Sorolla y Bastida and Kenyon Cox. The general exhibitions have a decided tendency to become annual, and we now have eleven or twelve such recurrent exhibitions, viz:

In the annual exhibition of American Paintings the Potter Palmer Gold Medal carrying with it a prize of $1000 was awarded to W. Sergeant Kendall for a picture entitled "Alison." The Norman Wait Harris Silver Medal, with $500, was awarded to Willard L. Metcalf for a picture "Ice-bound." The Norman Wait Harris Bronze Medal, with $300, was awarded to Henry Salem Hubbell for a picture "The Departure." Honorable Mention, with a prize of $100, was awarded to William Wendt for "The Silence of the Night." The Martin B. Cahn Prize of $100, was awarded to Frederic Clay Bartlett for "Grey Day in a Court." In the exhibition of Chicago Artists the Municipal Art League purchased for its permanent collection "The Road" by Wilson H. Irvine. The Medal of the Chicago Society of Artists was awarded to Leonard Crunelle for a statue of an Indian subject called "Sakakawea."
The Edward B. Butler purchase prize of $200 was awarded to Lucie Hartrath for “Midsummer.” Prizes were also awarded to John F. Stacey, Nellie Walker, Leon Roecker and Ethel L. Coe. In the exhibition of the Society of Western Artists the Fine Arts Building Prize of $500 was awarded to William Forsyth of Indianapolis for a group of paintings. The Etching Prize of $150 was awarded to George Aid of St. Louis for his “Chateau d’Amboise.”

There also have been issued numerous notices and circulars of the Art Institute. A catalogue of the Mansfield collection of etchings by Charles Meryon and a catalogue of etchings by Joseph Pennell are in course of preparation.

The Year Book of the Friends of American Art was prepared at the Art Institute.

The few changes in the installation of collections have been for the most part consequent upon the changes in the building. After the completion of the new East range of galleries in the winter of 1909-10, the passing exhibitions were held in those galleries. But the opening of the central staircase gives new importance and dignity to this range of rooms, especially the central one, which may, by the removal of its west wall, become a part of the great central hall. It has been determined therefore to occupy the east galleries with the permanent collections and to hold the passing exhibitions in the south range of galleries. The south galleries are in fact better adapted to this purpose, and the present water-color exhibition is installed in them.

The great El Greco, “The Assumption of the Virgin,” has been removed to a fine position, which it will probably long occupy, in the centre of the west wall of the great central hall (Room 35), where it presents a magnificent appearance. The sculptured work, "Death and the Sculptor," has been removed to the corresponding position, on the east wall of Room 50.

Room 16, destined for the Egyptian antiquities, has not yet been permanently arranged. Room 46 has been occupied by the drawings of "Chicago Beautiful," but now contains the valuable loan collections of Mr. C. H. McCormick and Mr. C. L. Hutchinson. The fine collection of Japanese inros presented by Mrs. George T. Smith has been handsomely installed in a special case, showing both sides of the objects, and is exhibited in Room 43. A collection of missals, old embroideries, book-covers, etc., lent by Mrs. W. E. Kelley, and a collection of laces lent by the Countess Elizabeth Phelps Resse are now on exhibition in the Antiquarian Room (No. 45). A collection of hand-wrought American Coverlets, assembled by Mrs. Florence S. Babbitt, and presented by Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus, has been installed in Room 13.

The manner in which the various galleries are occupied is shown by the "Designation of Galleries" accompanying the plans at the beginning of this Report.

Compared with last year the total attendance has increased 266. The school earnings have been $69,474.73, an increase over last year of $5,154.09.

At the close of the school year, June 17, 1910, the following awards were made:

The John Quincy Adams Prize, a Foreign Travelling Scholarship of $425.00, limited to American-born students, who have not previously studied abroad, to Gordon Stevenson, Chicago.

The American Travelling Scholarship of $125.00 to Frank Makowski, Chicago.

The Tuesday Art and Travel Club Prize, a Foreign Travelling Scholarship of $500.00, limited to Chicago young women, to Anna M. Sundberg, Chicago.

Prizes in the Department of Decorative Designing to Mrs. Ada M. Alexander, Evansville, Ind.; Theodora Schwarz, Highland Park, Ill.; Frances M. Wilson, Pierceton, Ind.; L. Mabel Tucker, Evanston, Ill. Certificates for three years of Academic study with credit were issued to ten men and seventeen women. In the department of Decorative Designing the regular three-year diploma was conferred upon one man and eleven women. In the Normal Department the regular three-year diploma was conferred upon twenty-eight women. In the department of Architecture the four-year diploma was conferred upon seven young men and the two-year certificate upon three. The Home
Travelling Scholarship of $250.00, in architecture, offered by the Art Institute, was awarded in March, 1911, to Bernhard C. Greengard of Chicago of the class of 1911, for a design for a "Chapter House for the American Institute of Architects," and the Charles Lawrence Hutchinson Medal in architecture was also awarded to Mr. Greengard for general excellence during the four-year course.

Mr. Harry M. Walcott continued his work for six months of the last year, and has engaged to teach the whole of next year. Mr. Henry S. Hubbell, Mr. Louis Betts, Mr. Kenyon Cox, and Mr. Sorolla have conducted classes for considerable periods, and Mr. Betts will remain next year. Mr. H. R. Poore and Mr. E. H. Blashfield delivered lectures to the students during the year. Mr. F. D. Schook and Mr. Frederick Oswald have spent the year in study abroad, and the latter will remain another year.

Mr. C. J. Mulligan and Miss Ethel Coe will go abroad for study for the next year. Miss Buckley and Miss Bennett take tours for professional study. We have received many welcome visits from distinguished artists during the past year.

It was recorded in the Report of last year that Mr. Vanderpoel had been given a year's leave of absence to teach in St. Louis. He engaged however to continue to deliver courses of lectures for us. During the course in Chicago in December, he suffered a severe attack of heart disease, and upon May, 2, 1911, he died suddenly at St. Louis of the same disease. Few men have attained such skill in the teaching of academic drawing, and few men have so possessed the hearts of their friends and pupils.

John H. Vanderpoel was born in the Haarlemmermeer, Holland, November 15, 1857. He was eleven years old when his father brought the family to Chicago. At the age of fourteen he suffered a fall in a gymnasium which made him a cripple for life, and when he was about thirty-five he lost the sight of one of his eyes. He early showed his inclination for drawing in the public schools, and received instruction from Hermann Hanstein and C. F. Schwerdt. He sought special instruction in classes at the Turner Hall and later in the Academy of Design, where he enjoyed a scholarship established by Mr. Crosby of the famous Crosby Opera House. This school was merged in the Art Institute, and Vanderpoel studied with J. F. Gookins, Lawrence Earle and Henry F. Spread, and became first a distinguished student, and then a junior teacher. He was a teacher in the Art Institute for more than thirty years. In 1886 he was sent abroad by the school, and spent two years in Paris, studying under Boulanger and Lefebvre, and spending the summers in Holland. From that time until his death it was chiefly his influence that gave the Art Institute its reputation as a school of severe drawing. He was a member of the Society of Western Artists, member of the New York Water-Color Society, member and president of the Chicago Society of Artists, was awarded a bronze medal at St. Louis in 1904, etc. He painted numerous easel pictures and executed some mural paintings, but his reputation rests chiefly upon his success as a teacher, author, and lecturer upon the drawing and construction of the human head and figure. His book upon "The Human Figure" is a standard work, invaluable to the art student. With a firm and resolute character he united a gentle and lovable disposition. He had a great capacity for work, and was always cheerful and happy. His profound knowledge of his specialty, with his faculty of winning the confidence and affection of his pupils, made him probably the best teacher living of the drawing of the figure, and his whole life was identified with the Art Institute.

In conclusion, an institution, like an individual, appears to have personal characteristics, and one of the characteristics of the Art Institute is to inspire everyone connected with it with enthusiasm. Without this element it would be impossible to carry forward the work. I cannot refrain from commending to the Trustees the many faithful workers of all departments, from the curators and teachers to those who perform the humblest offices, and I am only deterred from mentioning names because I cannot call so long a roll.

This report is accompanied by the report of the Librarian of the Ryerson Library, and by complete lists of the accessions to the collections and to the library.

Very respectfully,

WILLIAM M. R. FRENCH,
Director.
Report of the Librarian

CHICAGO, June 1, 1911.

To the Director and Trustees of the Art Institute of Chicago:

The following table shows the accessions of the year and the present contents of the Library, in all departments:

The first place in the report is given to this tabulation because it is desired to draw attention to the fact that the library is not only a collection of books, but an active and growing collection of lantern slides and photographs as well. Indeed, the importance of these departments can hardly be overestimated. The librarian’s report of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston states that “a large part of the educational work of the museum is done through the photograph collection,” and from the demands made upon our photographs and lantern slides during the past year we realize that in the development of these departments lies a great opportunity for usefulness.

This year for the first time we have had a small appropriation for lantern slides and photographs ($200. each), and while we could have used much more to excellent advantage and hope we may have an increased appropriation next year, this amount has allowed us to supply our most immediate needs, and has established us on a more systematic and satisfactory working basis than was possible before. A remarkably valuable gift has been received from Mr. H. H. Getty, who in September of last year sent us a collection of nearly 3,000 photographs of Oriental countries—China, Japan, India, Turkey, etc., showing the scenery, architecture, customs and costumes of the people, wonderful details of their wood and stone carving and other arts and industries. This gift of Mr. Getty's, supplemented by some 400 photographs of similar character, since given by Mr. Ryerson, makes our collection a truly noteworthy one on Oriental art and life.

The circulation of lantern slides has been 13,429 this year, as compared with 8,449 last year (a most encouraging increase), and 2,665 photographs have been lent, last year's record showing 808. No record is kept of the use made of photographs in the library, but this comparison of loans for the two years will show what a remarkable gain in use has been made this year. This encouraging condition in the lantern slide and photograph departments is largely due to the efficient work of Miss Edith Emerson, who has charge of these collections.

The circulation of books shows a gratifying increase over that of last year—7,149 as compared with 5,052—but the best commentary on the growth and use of the library is the statement of the year's attendance, 79,418. This is truly a remarkable record for a library of this size and character. The average monthly attendance has been 6,608, the largest attendance of a single month being 9,568 (March, 1911); the average daily attendance is 260; the largest in a single day, 607 (March 11). Of the total of 79,000, about 50,000 have been students. Itemized statements of attendance, circulation, accessions, etc., with comparisons with last year’s records, may be found in the table of statistics.

The most important gift of the year was Mr. Ryerson’s donation in January of $2,500, to be expended for books and furniture. Nearly $1,500 of this ($1,491.70) was spent on the new book stacks, which have been installed on the lower floor. When the school offices and locker rooms were moved to their new quarters the library reclaimed its own much needed space on this floor, partitions were removed and rebuilt, the lantern slide and photograph departments moved to the west side, and room made along the east side for three large double stacks, 27 feet long, with twelve and sixteen-inch shelves, providing accommodations for books of all sizes (except the very largest) and affording space for several years’ growth. The library has been uncomfortably cramped for more than a year and the new shelves are a great relief. They are placed in accordance with a general plan for covering the entire lower floor. It will make a most attractive and practical stack room, and our main ambition now is for funds to fill some of these vacant shelves. There are a great many important monumental works which belong in a library of this sort, and which we have never been able to afford.
The aim has been always to supply a practical working library. It is now time to begin acquiring these larger works if possible. As a school library we have developed most satisfactorily; as a museum library we leave much to be desired and have many demands we are unable to meet.

The good use which has been made of the income from the Sprague Fund, appropriated this year to library uses, may be seen by a glance at the list of accessions. It is earnestly hoped that we may have the income from this fund again next year.

Especially interesting gifts of the year in the department of books are: from Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, the catalogue of his collection of jewels and precious works of art; from Mr. H. H. Getty, a number of interesting books of travel, mainly in Oriental countries; from Mr. Ryerson, 7 volumes of La Croix’s famous work on the life, arts and customs of the French people from the middle ages through the XVIII century, and various works of history and travel, including Duruy’s Greece in 16 volumes and Guizot’s France in 8 volumes; from Mr. Woodhead, Bourasse’s beautiful “La Touraine”; from Mr. D. K. Kelekian, “The Kelekian Collection of Persian and Analogous Pottery”; from the Quartermaster General of the U.S. Army, a most valuable book, illustrating in color the costumes of the army from 1774 to 1907; and from Armour Institute of Technology the loan of 27 volumes of valuable architectural works, which we are to bind and have the use of indefinitely.

In the department of photographs, besides the gifts of Mr. Getty and Mr. Ryerson, already mentioned, numerous prints of other subjects have been contributed by both of these gentlemen, including an important set of 269 prints of Italian painting from Mr. Getty; and important purchases have been made from the Sprague Fund, including collections of English parish churches, American college buildings, the works of the painter Sorolla, a number of American paintings, and 150 blue-prints from the tracings of the class in decorative design, a most valuable addition for student use, for which we are indebted to Mr. Millet.

In the department of lantern slides Mrs. Sherwood is again our chief benefactor, having given 408 slides during the year. These consist of views and architecture of Germany, England, Spain and other countries, and paintings of various schools. Mr. Watson has given us 94 slides of Spanish subjects, and among our interesting purchases are collections of Blashfield’s, Sargent’s and Whistler’s works, 67 of Japanese and Chinese subjects, 55 of Dutch painting and a number of furniture and interior decoration.

The collection of road maps begun last year by Mr. Ryerson has been greatly increased and now covers most of France, Italy, Germany and a number of the minor countries of Europe. It contains in all 257 sheets and forms a very valuable collection. A detailed description of these maps was published in an article in the Art Institute Bulletin of October, 1910.

The Pamphlet Department, since its rearrangement last year, has increased greatly in usefulness and accessibility for reference work. It has received 976 additions during the year and now numbers 5,597. All the pamphlets have been accessioned and given individual numbers. Among important additions to this collection are complete sets of the publications of the Société des Amis du Louvre and of the Art Association of Indiana, the gifts of the respective societies.

The Clipping File becomes more and more important and useful. 146 envelopes have been added during the year, which makes a total of 792. Sometimes as many as a dozen articles are contained in one envelope. The collection has outgrown its present quarters and must have new accommodations immediately. A collection of post cards has been begun, a set of the gargoyles of Notre Dame serving as a nucleus, and the gift from Stengel & Co. of Dresden, Germany, of several hundred colored cards of paintings being an important addition. It is hoped to develop this collection during the coming year.
The most interesting accomplishment of the year in the line of routine work is our “vari-colored” index. This has been made by combining the several special indexes, those of periodicals, illustrations, pamphlets and clipping file, in a single alphabet, the color of the card indicating the department in which the material may be found. The clipping file entries are on buff cards, the pamphlets on blue, the illustrations (excepting portraits, which are on green according to general library usage) and the general analyticals of material in bound magazines and books, on white. This experiment has proved most successful for quick reference work and the index is an object of much interest to visitors.

Other features of the year’s work are the realalphabetizing of the main catalogue, the new accession and shelf lists of lantern slides, the accession lists of pamphlets and photographs, and the preparation of several bibliographies, three of which have been published—one on American Art in the Bulletin of the Art Institute for January 1911, one on Joaquin Sorolla y Bastida in the catalogue of the exhibition of his work, and one on the various American artists represented in the Collection of the Friends of American Art, in their Yearbook for 1911. Among many others prepared were Art in Chicago, Art Collections in America, Scandinavian art, Modern Spanish Painting, and a list of the Mural Paintings in Chicago. Many of these book lists are prepared in response to letters from women’s clubs in small towns. Indeed some of the most useful work done by the library is through correspondence with people in outlying districts and villages in western states where there is little or no material on art available. To give proper attention to these requests takes often a great deal of time, but it is time spent in a good cause, well worth all the help we can give.

There have been the usual visits from library schools this year, and the annual reception of the Chicago Library Club to the visiting librarians was again held at the Art Institute in January. This reception has afforded an excellent opportunity of acquainting librarians generally with our collections.

The staff of the library is most satisfactory. Since the appointment of Miss Wiebe White last September the catalogue has been greatly improved and we hope during the summer to accomplish much more in this direction.

A table of statistics accompanies this report, also a list of magazines received and selected lists of gifts and other acquisitions to the library.

Very respectfully,

MARY VAN HORNE,

Librarian.

OF MEMBERS

Section 1. Members of the Art Institute shall be of four classes: Governing Members, Honorary Members, Life Members, and Annual Members.

Sec. 2. Governing Members only shall have the right to vote for or be eligible to the office of Trustee. They shall be chosen by ballot by the Board of Trustees at any of its meetings upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee, and shall each pay into the treasury the sum of One Hundred Dollars or more; and in the election of Trustees each Governing Member shall be entitled to one vote. The annual dues of Governing Members shall be Twenty-five Dollars after the first year of membership, and no one shall exercise the rights of a Governing Member till his dues are paid.

The name of any Governing Member whose dues are unpaid on the thirty-first day of December of each year shall be posted by the Secretary in his office at the Art Institute, and notice of such posting shall be sent to such delinquent member; and in case he shall continue delinquent for six months after his name has been posted, and he has been notified as herein provided, the Executive Committee shall terminate his membership. The number of Governing Members shall be limited to two hundred.

Sec. 3. Honorary Members shall be chosen from among persons who have rendered eminent services to the institution, or who have claim to the rank of artists or patrons of art. They shall be chosen in the same manner as Governing Members, but only upon the unanimous nomination of the Executive Committee. They shall be exempt from the payment of dues, and shall have all the rights and privileges of Governing Members, except the right to vote.

Sec. 4. Annual Members shall have the privileges of Honorary Members for one year upon the payment of ten dollars.

Sec. 6. Suitable certificates of membership shall be provided by the Board of Trustees, and shall be signed by the President and countersigned by the Secretary. At any election Governing Members may be represented by proxy, the presentation of their certificates admitting the person who holds the same to cast the vote to which its owner would be entitled if present.
Sec. 7. Life Members, upon the payment of one hundred dollars, shall have the privileges of Annual Members for and during their respective lives, and the money so received shall not be expended for current expenses, but shall be invested and the income thereof may be disbursed under the direction of the Executive Committee.

Sec. 8. Governing Members upon the payment of four hundred dollars shall be exempt from dues, and shall be known as Governing Life Members. The money so received from said Governing Members shall be invested, and only the income thereof expended.

Sec. 9. Whenever any person shall have contributed $25,000 or more, or its equivalent, to the Art Institute of Chicago, he shall be named a Benefactor of the Art Institute, and his name shall be printed in each Annual Report under the head of Benefactors of the Art Institute.
