

The Most Expensive Painting in the World

is taller than I am
taller than Yao Ming
(but not Robert Wadlow)

can be expressed
as a number:
5,1948

is my future grandchild's painting magnetted to
the kitchen fridge

is worth more than two
green car crashes (green burning car I)

was sold by Geffen because he preferred the
daily newspaper and

the least expensive painting
lies outside
his mansion's window.
